We are living in exciting times. The influx of knowledge and fast changing educational technology calls for knowledge management. I strongly believe that in this process of institutional development and educational planning, the vision and mission, ideas and ideals of an institution are very significant.

I take pride in stating that VVIS has been successful in proving true to the words, "Quality is never an accident; it is always the result of high intention, sincere effort, intelligent direction and skilful execution; it represents the wise choice amongst the many alternatives."

We recognise the importance of a sound value system and its impact on a holistic growth of our students. At VVIS, children are not afraid to take risks and think out of the box. We assure the parents that we are the custodians of children's future and the trust placed in us will be rewarding to them as well as the children.
